Charles Bidwell Dies on Way to Hospital

CORONER RENDERS VERDICT

Another Man Dies in Bed; Heart Disease Cause

Charles A. Bidwell, committed suicide Sunday afternoon at his home on the Independence-rd, by ending a bullet thru his brain. Respondency over ill health was given as the cause for his act.

Bidwell had been sick for the past two years and on several occasions had threatened to end his life. Members of his family declared.

Late Sunday afternoon while his wife and sister were in the room at the rear of the property, Bidwell walked into the front room of the house and sent a bullet from a .32 calibre revolver through the roof of the house into the right temple, falling in the room.

He died a few minutes later in Williams & Davis ambulance as he was being rushed to City Hospital. Coroner Frank Smith declared death due to gun shot in man with suicidal intent.

ARMY VETERAN
The deceased was born in Jay, Ohio, August 5, 1877 and was employed by the B. & O. road. He was a Spanish War veteran.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 10 a. m. at the Williams & Davis Chapel. Interment will be in Woodlawn cemetery.

The lifeless body of Warren T. Farmer, 52, was found in bed at his home, 319 N. Jefferson-st. Sunday at 9:30 p. m. by his wife. She was unable to get into the room as the door was locked. A half hour later his wife entered the room and found his lifeless body in the bed.

Farmer was born in Milbury, Ohio, December 26, 1872, and for the past three years had been employed as foreman for the Lima Construction Co. He was a member of the Garrett Wykoff club.

Surviving are the widow and a son, Richard, residing at 1000 S. Main-st.

Services will be conducted at a residence Wednesday afternoon. The time has not been announced. Burial will be in Woodlawn cemetery.

YAY SURRENDER

Althy Farmer Charged With Kidnaping Girl

FAIRBURN, Ga.—(By Associated Press)—H. G. Cook, well-known land owner, is expected to surrender to the sheriff today in connection with the kidnaping of Agnes Furmont, 17, old daughter of one of his tenants. Cook, who was released yesterday, has been sought for several weeks.

Cook, who is 60, formerly was director of the Bank of Camp, which was closed by state officials on the ground that it had received too much money. He disappeared June 17, taking a wife and several children and his estate valued at more than a quarter of a million dollars was placed in the hands of a receiver. He is alleged to have received $15,000 in cash in his life. No trace of the man has been found.

CABLE IS VICTIM OF ACCIDENT

Loses Sight of Right Eye at Home Here

Congressman John L. Cable, Republican gubernatorial candidate, Saturday night at his home, 1315 Lakewood-av., suffered a severe injury when a splinter from a box of household goods he was opening lodged in his eye and caused loss of sight in his right eye.

The splinter pierced the eye lens or eye ball, Drs. Paul and F. J. Stueber, eye specialists, announced Monday shortly before Congressman Cable, accompanied by Mrs. Cable and his sister, Mrs. J. R. McCabe, of Tulsa, Okla., left for Cincinnati for consultation with Dr. V. F. Vail, famous eye specialist.

While sight in the left eye has not been impaired, the consultation was deemed advisable to prevent complications.

Congressman Cable, who recently opened his home after his return from Washington, was opening a wooden box when the accident happened. He was pounding on the box with a steel hammer and a piece of wood from the top board flew into his eye and pierced the lens. Every effort was made to save the sight, but Monday morning announcement of the loss was made.

Continuation of his campaign for the Republican gubernatorial nomination at the August primaries by Congressman Cable, was assured Monday in a statement by Alfred P. Beck, his secretary, who stated that while the partial loss of his sight is a severe blow to Congressman Cable, no letup in the campaign for the nomination will be made.

LAWYERS GATHER FOR CONVENTION TOMORROW

PHILADELPHIA — Prominent lawyers and jurists from all parts of the country began assembling here today for the convention of the American Bar Association, which opens a three days meeting tomorrow.

Chief Justice Taft and Secretary of State Hughes are among the distinguished speakers on the program. Topics for consideration by the convention include many plans for uniform state laws, new federal laws, simplification of legal procedure, raising the standards of legal education and elimination of legal delays. Recommendation of procedure designed to obviate the law's delay and to insure the widest application of judicial hearing will be made in one of the committee reports.

A number of committee meetings and conferences on special topics are scheduled for today.

RAILWAY IS WORKING IN METCALF-ST

City Notified That Rails Are to be Laid at Once

RESULT OF RECENT MOVE

Paving of Thorfare Made Possible by Action

Officials of the Lima City Street Railway Co. announced Monday that work has been started on the paving and laying of tracks along their right-of-way over the Metcalf-st. overhead, and they have notified the city of their action.

This action was taken by the company after the City Commission, at a meeting last Monday night, instructed the City Solicitor to take whatever action would be necessary to compel the company to lay their tracks over the viaduct, so it could be opened to traffic. City Manager Birmingham charged the company with holding up the opening of the street for three months by not carrying out their portion of the paving.

Commissioner Harold Cunningham was informed Monday by officials of the company that workmen are at present engaged in laying the concrete foundation for the tracks. The rails will be available, and will be placed immediately upon the completion of the foundation, he said.

PAVE STREET

With work on the overhead in the last stage of completion, it is the intention of the city and county to start work as soon as possible on the paving of S. Metcalf-st. from the overhead to its intersection with Kibby-st.

While the city and county are working on the street, it is the intention of the railway company to extend its tracks over the improved portion, from there thru the district of the Locomotive Works, and back to Kibby and Vine-sts., where they will connect again with the Vine-st line.

The Metcalf-st. overhead is being erected by the city, county and the L. E. & W. railroad at a cost of $225,000, with the railroad bearing the brunt of the expense. With the opening of the overhead to traffic, one of the worst crossing hazards in the city will be eliminated, and a thru road for tourists thru Lima and onto the Dixie highway will be established.

Marbles Going Out Of Style; Cost Too High

NEW YORK.—(Special)—The high price of marbles has driven the boys who play on the sidewalks of New York to a new and less expensive game. "Checker marbles" it is called. It is played just as marbles has been played in every hamlet for years—except the marbles are flat discs.

The boys shoot the discs along the sidewalk in an attempt to knock their opponents' discs out of the drawn ring. "We don't lose checkers like we did our nickel agates," the boys explain.

There is thrift in New York when it is necessary.

CALVIN JR. IS NEAR DEATH

President's Son Has Fighting Chance, Doctors Say

SUFFERS SINKING SPELLS
His Survival of Night is Called Miracle

WASHINGTON.—(Associated Press)—The last point of gravity was reached this afternoon in the condition of Calvin Coolidge Jr., son of the president, suffering from blood poisoning at Walter Reed army hospital.

Gas was said to be forming in the stomach, an additional evidence of the progress of infection and making it impossible for him to take nutrition by the ordinary means. The president and Mrs. Coolidge were remaining immediately at hand.

WASHINGTON.—(By Associated Press)—After a night during which the patient was said to have been near death in three separate sinking spells, Calvin Coolidge Jr., son of the president, was still fighting bravely for his life early today with his safe passage thru the early morning hours giving slightly increased hope of his recovery.

One of the physicians who remained in attendance described his survival of the night a "miracle" adding that he now had a fighting chance for recovery. The condition that gives the greatest promise, he said, that no vital organs have broken down in the strain.

The physician confirmed reports that a blood transfusion had been resorted to, presumably about midnight, and said the boy had "reacted well to the transfusion and other things that have been done for him."

While it was stated in one quarter that oxygen had been administered during the sinking spells early today, the physicians refused to comment on this phase of the case.

The president and Mrs. Coolidge, who remained at the Walter Reed army hospital near their son's bedside thru the night, were called at each unfavorable development.

The courage of the 16 year old youth in his battle for life was praised by the physicians, who declared that this, together with his manifest conviction that he and his parents were doing everything possible to bring him thru, was a psychological element that meant much. Calvin junior was said to have been conscious most of the night, altho at times delirious from the raging fever induced by the poison which has swept thru his system unchecked for the past four days.

Two enlisted men at the hospital, members of the medical corps, offered themselves for the blood transfusion performed, which, it was indicated, resulted in the very slight change for the better which was announced at one o'clock this morning.

ATTEMPT IS MADE UPON SHOE STORE

Coco Cola Bottling Works and Kinneys Are Victims

TWO SUSPECTS ARE HELD

Night Watchman Frightens Robbers from Work

Professional yeggs, working in Lima between midnight Sunday and 2 a. m. Monday, blew the safe at the Coca Cola Bottling Works, 329 S. Union-st., and obtained $60 in cash, and made an attempt upon the safe at the Kinney Shoe Store, 124 W. High-st., but were frightened away by police before they could finish the job.

At the bottling works several hundreds dollars in checks were left scattered over the floor, Manager J. B. Watson stated Monday. Twenty-five cents in pennies were missing from the cash drawer at the shoe store, Leo Drabant, manager, reported. I. D. Sten, owner and renter of the store and several other buildings on High-st., had more than $300 in cash lying on a table in a basement room ten feet from where yeggs were working on the Kinney safe. Not a cent was missing Monday morning, he said.

TWO HELD
Two men, who police suspect of having perpetrated both jobs, are being held at headquarters. They are Thomas Malad, 30, who says he is a filling station proprietor and lives at 3714 Roosevelt-av., Indianapolis, Ind., and Charles H. Deal, who gives his home address as 2848 N. Denny-st., Indianapolis.

They were taken into custody at 4 a. m. Monday by police, after reports had been received that they were loitering about the New Hudson lunch room on N. Main-st., and acting strangely.

Police searched their machine and found a quantity of women's clothing and a grip full of shoes which are thought to have been stolen from a Detroit department store. Detroit police have been notified and the men are being held pending a reply.

Leo Drabant, who had reported two strange-looking characters loitering about the shoe store on Saturday, looked the men over and failed to identify either of them. In case word from Detroit fails to connect them with shoplifting or burglary in that city, police will be without authority to hold them more than a day or two, Chief Lanker said Monday.

DOOR UNLOCKED
At Kinney's, entrance was gained thru a cellar door facing the alley. Drabant said the door had been accidentally left unlocked. From the cellar they gained the top floor thru a trap door. The 200-lb. safe was dragged from the front of the place to the trap door, a distance of several hundred feet, and was lifted thru the trap door and into the cellar, where they evidently intended to blow it.

Drabant, after an inventory of its contents Monday, said the safe contained cash and valuables worth $1,000.

Merchant, Policeman Carl Harsho flashed his light into the store at 2 a. m. and found the safe missing from its usual place directly under the night light. He immediately called headquarters. It is thought that when he flashed the light thieves saw the glow and were frightened away.

At the Coca Cola works the south window was jammed, and entrance was gained in this manner. The safe was dragged from the office into the middle of the floor of the main room, a quantity of nitroglycerin was poured along the opening, soap was rubbed over it, and the charge was set off. A quantity of clothes wrapped about the door muffled the sound of the explosion. The robbery was discovered by Merchant, Policeman Elmer Hurley about 2:30 a. m.

J. G. Watson, manager of the works, stated that several cases of soft drinks have been found to be missing every day. Policeman Hurley, several days ago, found a complete juvenile burglar equipment under a building adjoining the pop works.

Police theory is that a traveling band of professional safe artists are responsible for both jobs.

SMILE ENCHANTS

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT

SMITH MANAGER "REAL HERO"

Roosevelt's Convention Work Described by Writer

"OBSERVERS ENCHANTED"

Declares His Smile Holds Spiritual Grace

NEW YORK.—(By United Press)—No matter whether his candidate—Gov. Al Smith, of New York—wins or loses, Franklin D. Roosevelt stands out as the real hero of the Democratic convention of 1924.

Adversity has lifted him above the bickering, the religious bigotry, conflicting personal ambitions and petty sectional prejudices. It has made him the one leader commanding the respect and admiration of delegations from all sections of the land.

Stricken two years ago at the zenith of his career with infantile paralysis, he refused to concede the defeat that a weaker man would have accepted as fate. He merely smiled and fought back. It was a genuine smile with the gameness of generations of American blood and breeding behind it.

From a lithe, athletic figure, standing six feet two, and tipping the beam at 190, with the head of a Greek god, he has become half a man physically. That handsome head—with a new expression—that magnificent smile—are still his. But the long, straight, sturdy legs that carried him so nonchalantly thru street parades in the disastrous Democratic campaign of 1920, are gone. They have shriveled to mere shanks and only by the aid of steel braces and crutches can he walk.

REAL MARVEL
But the determination that knows no defeat, has won him back a long way on the road to recovery and despite his infirmities he took charge of Gov. Smith's campaign. Those who have watched him in the convention and at conferences of leaders now know why Al Smith picked Roosevelt to guide his political destiny. His wise and aggressive campaign has fired the admiration of all, but his own conduct has been the real marvel of the convention.

Roosevelt might be a pathetic, tragic figure but for the fine courage that flashes in his smile. It holds observers enchanted. They forget the tortured progress that he makes on crutches, dragging his legs as he makes his way down the aisle of the convention hall.

That smile holds a spiritual grace that it lacked when Roosevelt was assistant secretary of the navy. Then he appeared to revel in abundant good health and magnificent manhood. Even the responsibilities of the Democratic vice presidential nomination failed to give the present touch.

It was not merely sympathy for a big man crippled that caused the great throng in Madison Square Garden to give Roosevelt that only real spontaneous ovation yet accorded any candidate or leader. It was more than the courage that glows in the handsome face. The crowd caught the spirit beneath, the aggressive.

ACTION TAKEN TO BREAK DEADLOCK IN CONVENTION

Ballots Cast In Convention Today

Ballots Now Free to be Cast for Anyone

GAIN IS SCORED BY GLASS

Missouri and Wyoming Switch from McAdoo

(BULLETIN)
Convention takes recess until 8:30 tonight.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK.—(By Associated Press)—By action of the Democratic national convention itself today all delegates and instructions on presidential candidacies. The action of the convention does not affect the two-thirds rule of the unit rule. By its action, the convention approved the stand of the fifteen minority candidates, including Governor Smith. McAdoo's counter proposal did not come up for a vote.

The text for the resolution adopted by the convention, motion of Governor Smith, was adopted. The resolution was that the votes in favor of the movement tumbled in so fast that its passage was assured before the roll call was begun. The effect of releasing delegates from instructions and placing while retaining the unit rule and the two third rule, will be developed in the balloting immediately.

There are delegates in the convention instructed by state conventions or primaries who say they are ready to change their votes.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK.—(NEW LEAD)—Brushing aside the pending proposals for suspending the rules and to release delegates, the Democratic national convention went back to the dreary business of balloting for president.

Proposition of fifteen minority candidates, including Governor Smith and counter proposition by McAdoo were reported. An attempt to refer the proposals to the rules committee, led by McAdoo men, was defeated by a large vote. The effect of the move, which was beaten, was that a report from the rules committee to eliminate the two-thirds rule could have been adopted by a majority of the convention, whereas a two-thirds majority now is required.

With that the convention went back to the tussle and apparently to demonstrate that all sides were just as stubborn unyielding on Monday morning as they were Saturday night.

It started as usual with "Alabama twenty-four votes for Underwood."

There was no change in the voting until Colorado was reached and there McAdoo gained a half vote. Smith lost one, Davis lost a half. In Florida, Smith lost one. In Illinois Smith gained five and McAdoo was unchanged. McAdoo lost a half vote in Maine.

MICHIGAN CHANGES
Michigan rearranged its vote entirely, going back to Ferris with 17 and giving Underwood three. It took eight and a half from McAdoo and five and a half from Smith. Robinson got two from Minnesota.

It was obvious thruout the first ballot of today—the seventy-eighth of the session—that if the delegates were looking for a place to go, they still were looking around for it.

Nebraska quit Governor Bryan entirely on this ballot and gave to Senator Walsh of Montana the two votes which had been hanging for him there. Senator Walsh also picked up three in New Hampshire taking them from Smith and McAdoo. Ohio gave a slightly change alignment, but the vote was scattered among seven candidates with Smith leading almost half of them.

The Virginia delegation broke and gave ten votes to McAdoo. The remaining 14 went as usual to Senator Glass.

West Virginia also broke for the first time and gave one vote to McAdoo. The remaining fifteen went as usual to John W. Davis.

In North Carolina McAdoo took 2 1/2 votes; Underwood gained 2 1/2; and Smith 2 1/2.

COX ATTEMPTS TO END ROW

Goes to New York as Party Peacemaker

NEW YORK.—(By United Press)—James M. Cox, the Democratic presidential nominee of four years ago, came to New York today to attempt to "harmonize" the discordant forces of the convention.

Declaring that he would not accept the nomination of the convention if it was tendered to him, Cox stated that his only interest in now directed toward bringing the varying elements of the party together. He will not favor any special candidate, he said.

His statement follows: "I have come to New York at the urgent request of prominent members of the party who have expressed to me the belief that a trying emergency has arisen and that the offices of the titular leader of the Democracy should be extended with a view to bringing about harmony."

"At the outset let it be understood that not only am I not a candidate but I will not accept the nomination if it is tendered to me. I do not know whether I can be of any service but my sense of gratitude and duty tells me that I should try."

"It is unnecessary to elaborate upon the need for an agreement between the delegates. Nothing will be gained by going into events or conditions that have gone since the convention assembled."

"I am not here for or against any candidate but am simply seeking to initiate and develop a purely Democratic and non-factional view out of which will come a nomination and a democratic president."

Cox moved into a suite at the Waldorf where convention leaders came to confer with him. He declined any comment on the convention outside of his statement and refused to indicate whether or not he would go to the convention hall.

SECOND APPEAL IS MADE

Mayor Moyer Receives Letter from Lorain Official

$7,500,000 IS NEEDED

All Lima Banks Are Ready to Forward Money

Proclamation appealing to Lima citizens to aid in the relief and rehabilitation of Lorain, Sandusky and the tornado stricken area along Lake Erie was issued here Monday by Mayor Earl C. Moyer upon receipt of a direct appeal from Mayor George Hoffman, of Lorain.

"Seven million, five hundred thousand dollars are needed to rebuild Lorain and care for the destitute and needy. Immediate financial aid is imperative," Mayor Hoffman said in his communication to Mayor Moyer.

Picture of abject suffering, of desolation, of homeless families living in parks, in tents and in homes that in the fury of Ohio's greatest tornado which exacted a damage toll of $30,000,000 and a life toll of 70, is painted in the frantic appeal that is sent from Lorain where the business section was razed and houses crushed like toys.

HEAVY LOSS
"Lorain business district and part of the residential district has been destroyed," Mayor Hoffman said. "Thousands are homeless and destitute. Loss is estimated at $30,000,000. At least $7,500,000 needed for emergency relief. Immediate financial aid imperative."

Lima banks designated as depositories by Governor Donahy are receiving donations of cash. So far the response has been very light, only $118.60 being collected. The Old National Bank has received $112.50 and the City Bank has taken in $6. The Lima Dime Savings Bank has also been named as a depository.

In his proclamation, Mayor Moyer says:

"As mayor of our city of Lima I call upon all citizens to come to the aid of our neighboring cities which have been so severely stricken. Remembering the many blessings we enjoy, let us be thankful that our own city has been spared a like calamity and let us sacrifice of our money to aid the homeless and destitute of Lorain, Sandusky and the surrounding area. Lima banks have been named by Governor Donahy as depositories to receive contributions."

Announcements that they would be glad to receive donations and forward them to John Gard, treasurer of Lorain Red Cross, were made Monday by officials of all Lima banks.

BRAZIL REVOLT IS PUT DOWN

Uprising in Army is Nipped by Government

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil.—(By United Press)—A section of the army of the state of Sao Paulo rebelled against its officers early Saturday, seized public buildings and caused considerable excitement before order was restored by federal troops over Sunday and today. The movement apparently started because of dissatisfaction in the ranks of the division of the Sao Paulo state government to renew its contract for a French military mission, which has been instructing and reorganizing the state's military forces for the last three years.

Troops in several barracks gathered quietly in the early hours of the morning, seized a number of their officers and started a battle with the state government.

The officers, backed by Governor Carlos de Campos and the federal garrison refused to yield to the rebels' demand and there was some street fighting.

A dispatch to the government ordered Jornal do Commercio here today said the insurrection has been subdued.

The federal government, however, has declared martial law in the federal district (Rio de Janeiro and environs) the state of Rio de Janeiro and the state of Sao Paulo.

Radio communication between Rio de Janeiro and Sao Paulo city, the second city of the republic and center of Brazil's great coffee industry, has been taken over by the military and public traffic prohibited.

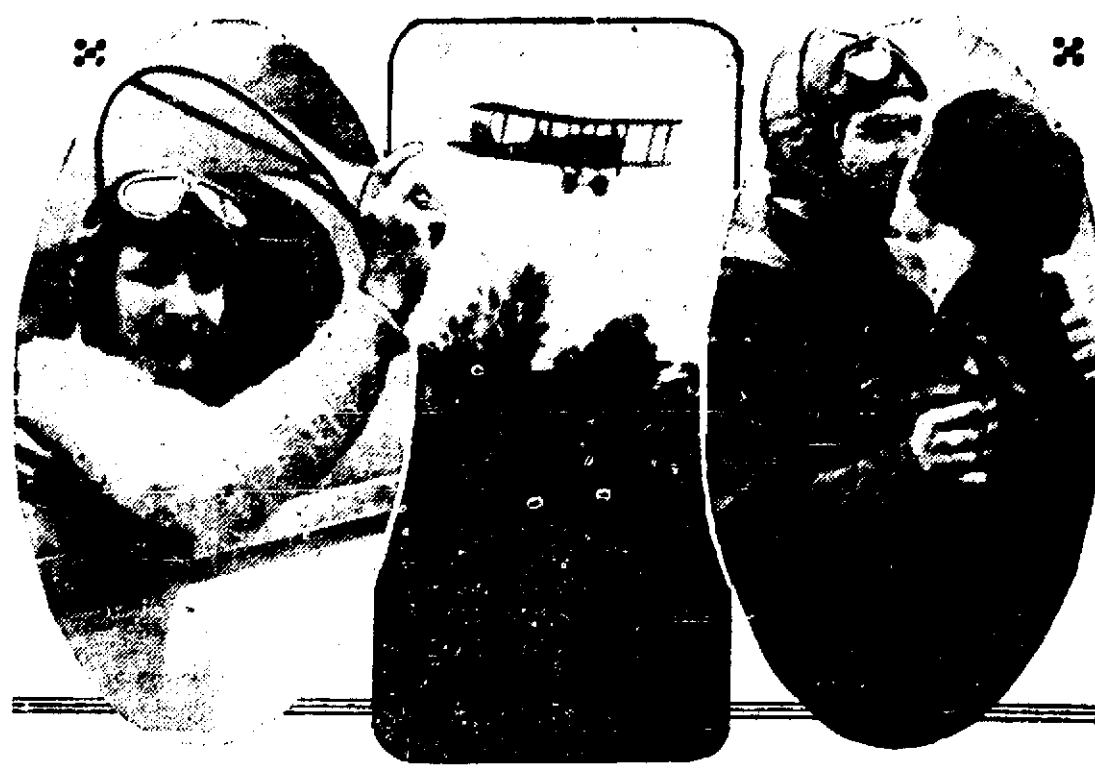

The military also has assumed control of telephone and telegraph communications.

LATEST CHAPTER IN ROMANCES OF THE AIR

Here is the brief picture story of the first transcontinental airmail flight, the latest chapter in the many romances of our new flying messengers, now across the nation in 36 hours, or thereabouts. Mail posted in New York at 8 a. m. will be delivered in San Francisco the following evening. On the left is shown Pilot Claire Vance taking off from San Francisco, bringing in his mail pouch this picture of himself taken and developed on the field just before he started. At Cleveland the pilots were changed and Pilot Wesley L. Smith is shown taking winging his way to New York and at right being greeted by his wife at the end of the long, arduous flight.

DELEGATES ARE RELEASED

John W. Davis gained one also.

RESOLUTION OFFERED

Then a resolution was offered by former Governor Gilchrist of Florida. It proposed that the rules be suspended for the adoption of a resolution which in turn would adopt the proposals embodied in the report of the conference on the over-Sunday negotiations.

The proceedings were held up for a moment while McAdoo leaders conferred on the platform. A delegate wanted the resolution read again but it developed the official stenographer had disappeared with it. The reading was postponed until end of the next ballot.

On the poll, three of the Pan American delegates cast three votes for McAdoo and three for Smith. The challenge contended that there was no unit rule imposed by the home convention and the delegates should be permitted to vote their convictions.

The chair had ruled last week that the delegation was voting as a unit.

RULING REVERSED

E. M. Robinson of Ancon was given permission to address the convention.

Robinson argued that the delegates were bound to vote for McAdoo. Chairman Walsh reversed his previous ruling and ordered the Canal zone vote recorded three for McAdoo and three for Smith.

Then between ballots the convention heard an announcement that former Governor Campbell of Ohio was celebrating his 81st birthday. To his place in the Ohio delegation the standard was carried with a bouquet attached to it.

J. M. Semans, of Oklahoma City, then offered a resolution proposing that it be expressed as the sense of the convention that the delegates vote on the next ballot only for the two leading candidates.

John J. Fitzgerald of Brooklyn objected and on a viva voce vote the motion failed.

Whomsoever, once more the majority of the convention expressed itself in favor of a prolonged fight.

Aside from the flap of Missouri from the McAdoo to the Glass column, the only feature of the voting was a redistribution in Nebraska which cost McAdoo three and a return of the Virginia delegation to the Glass fold in full force. Ten of Virginia's 24 had been going to McAdoo.

Wyoming followed the lead of Missouri and Virginia and gave three of her votes to Glass.

The ballot had raised Glass to where he was pressing for third place.

Franklin D. Roosevelt said today after the New York delegation had been informed of the proceedings of the conference held by representatives of the many candidates, the consensus of opinion that Governor Smith had attained the most formidable position of the many contenders.

"The convention reached a point where factional differences must be laid aside and all join forces for the good of the party," he said. "This can only be attained by nominating the man who can win. Many delegates voting for McAdoo realize his weakness. The best solution is to nominate Governor Smith."

The principal strength now being shown by McAdoo is in the unit rule delegations. Many of the delegations were instructed for McAdoo months ago.

Between the 80th and 81st ballots, a motion to adjourn until 7:30 p. m. was voted down and the clerk went on with the next ball.

The state of mind and the state of heart of everybody in the convention, was illustrated during the 81st ballot when the announcer in the Michigan delegation announced 32 votes—two more than the state has.

"You have cast too many votes," said the clerk.

"Then take it away from Senator Ferris," replied the clerk. "I am so groggy I can't count 'em."

RAPPED TO ORDER
At 11:25 daylight time, Chairman Walsh rapped for order. The Rev. Wm. L. Phillips, assistant pastor of the Little Church Around the Corner, offered the invocation.

Charles R. Wilson, of Huntington, W. Va., asked unanimous consent for consideration of a resolution to press the sympathy of the convention to President and Mrs. Coolidge in the critical illness of their son. It was adopted by a rising vote.

Then Chairman Walsh asked unanimous consent for the report by himself and Chairman Hull on the over-Sunday deliberations. There was no objection and the report was read by the secretary.

RESULT OF PARLEY

The course uncharted after a day and two nights of deliberation by party leaders and representatives of 15 candidates, the deadlocked Democratic national convention was called at 11 a. m. today to resume its efforts to select a presidential nominee.

With the delegates who have been supporting Governor Alfred E. Smith and all other candidates except William G. McAdoo unconditionally released, Chairman Walsh who, with Chairman Hull of the Democratic national committee, was instructed to confer with the candidates' representatives for the purpose of breaking the deadlock, had two proposals to report without recommendation.

One unanimously endorsed by all in behalf of all the candidates except McAdoo, called for action by the convention itself to compel unconditional release of the McAdoo delegates. The other, a counter proposal advanced by McAdoo, provides in recognition with the release of delegates, for abrogation of the unit voting and for thirds nominating rules, proposed elimination from the successive ballot of the candidate receiving the lowest vote, and full strength voting by state delegations regardless of how many members may be absent.

At a session of the conference which ended subject to call, the McAdoo proposal received no support from any other quarter. It was not made clear whether a simple majority or a two thirds vote would be necessary for the convention to act on either proposal or whether it could merely express a desire one way or another.

McADOO TO FIGHT ON

The lineup behind the two proposals in the conference proved to be representative of the solidified divergence which appeared in the concluding ballots of Sunday's session which put Smith up to 368 votes on the 76th and left him at the finish on the 77th with 367, exactly the number required to block a nomination under the two-thirds rule.

After the conference, however, spokesmen for the McAdoo camp said they had no intention of trying to prevent a vote by the convention on the proposal of the others for action releasing all delegates, pledges and obligations to candidates.

While his counter proposal was being considered by the conference McAdoo in an address before a rally of delegates who had supported him throughout the six days of balloting, declared he "would feel like the most contemptible traitor alive" if he "deserted" them at this time and "must stay and fight to the finish so as not to betray a trust." He was in the race, he said, to "carry out the mandate of the people" expressed in primaries and state conventions, and he reiterated again and again that he did not intend to withdraw.

WILDLY CHEERED

A resolution pledging the delegates anew to the support of the Californian was adopted after his address, which had been preceded by about an hour of discussion during which almost every mention of his name was wildly cheered and plans were advanced to organize his women supporters more closely to work for his nomination. The rally was arranged, it was emphasized at no suggestion from the McAdoo campaign headquarters but by leaders in various state delegations.

The question of selecting a compromise candidate was kept in the obscure background of possible ways out of the difficulty during all of the week-end conferences and after the adjournment early today as a final extreme measure even if the conventions should give specific authority for its consideration.

The initiative in the proposal for releasing candidates was taken yesterday by the representatives of the fourteen candidates in the favorite son class.

The proposal later was signed by Governor Smith in person and with fifteen candidates behind it, including McAdoo's chief contender and holder of a one third veto in the convention, it was regarded as placing the Californian at a disadvantage regardless what action he might take. His representatives in the conference who already had obtained a one hour recess for consultation were given another three hour period and when the meeting reassembled they presented the counter proposal worked out with their leader.

Much of yesterday's conference was marked by considerable bitterness with none of the details leaked out of the closely guarded meeting room.

To observers the immediate development of the conference seemed to be a further crystallization of the anti-McAdoo sentiment irrespective of varied preferences as to candidates in the belief that with the Californian eliminated from the balloting, the convention would be able to make a choice.

The Live Y'er club will hold a picnic and camp fire at 5 p. m. Tuesday. Miss Grace Reynolds, Y. W. C. A. industrial secretary, will announce. The location has not been announced. Miss Irene Freeman, president of the club, will give a report on an industrial conference held at Dewey Lake, Michigan, several weeks ago.

KEEN JOY

There's keen joy through the return of lost articles that are restored to their rightful owners through the Want Ads.

Because the Lima News Want ads reach the greatest number of people in the quickest possible time and at minimum expense, they provide the most efficient means of heralding the loss of any article of value.

Because both losers and finders have learned through actual experience to make use of the Lima News Wants, they are taken advantage of when things are lost or found.

Nothing is irrevocably lost until the Lima News Want Ads fail to return it.

TRADITION BAR TO PROGRESS

Democratic Party Needs Modernization Writer Asserts

TWO-THIRDS RULE UNFAIR

Antique Procedure Hurts Candidate, Investigator Says

BY HARRY B. HUNT
NEW YORK — (Special) —

If, as its leaders declare, the Democratic party is a party of "progress," the best proof it can proffer the country would be the modernization of its national convention procedure.

The country has just been witnessing a spectacle of a great party bound hand and foot by the shackles of "tradition."

Day after day and night after night delegates to the Democratic convention, bound by an obsolete unit rule that should have been scrapped with the stage coach and the ox cart of a century ago, cast their votes for candidates whom they did not wish to nominate but whom they were compelled to support because of the bondage passed on to them by a dead and gone generation.

Just as individuals themselves were blocked in an expression of their real preferences for a candidate, by the unit rule, so was the convention as a whole handicapped in its selection by the two-thirds rule.

MINORITY WEAPON

The trouble with the two-thirds rule is not merely that it does not permit a majority to determine the party's choice. Much more serious is the fact that it permits a stubborn minority to block effectively the will of even a decisive majority.

The result of deadlocks thus developed is the thwarting of majority rule, which is presumed to be the standard by which a democracy should operate. The solution inevitably is a compromise. And compromises are neither fish, flesh nor fowl. They are hash satisfying the palate of neither majority nor minority, and giving to the country a dish that is admittedly second choice for everybody concerned.

The two-thirds rule, indisputably an undemocratic standard within the Democratic party, was fixed as party policy back in 1832 under the maneuvering of Andrew Jackson. Since "Old Hickory" is Democracy's outstanding hero, his pronouncements have become the Democratic bible and it is nothing less than political heresy to challenge them.

UNIT RULE

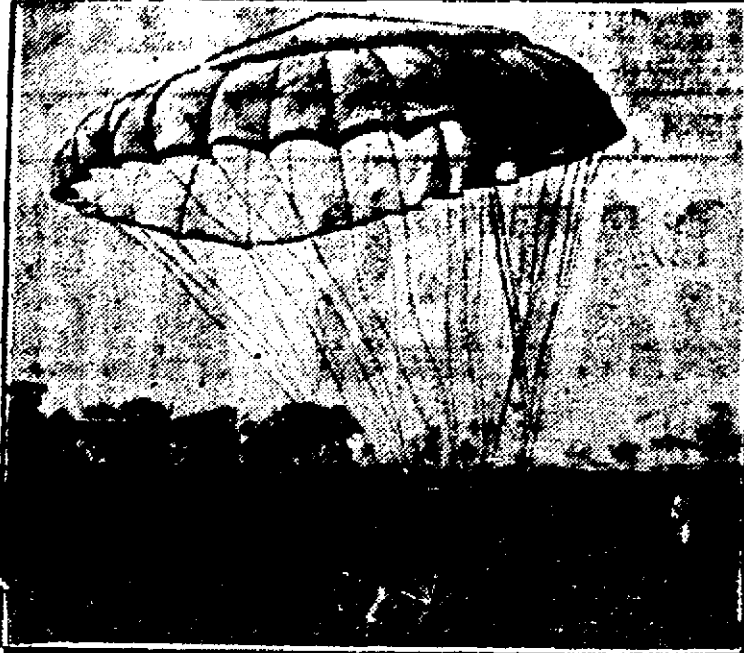

Democrats have been free to champion amendments to the constitution. They maintain that our charter of government must keep pace with changing conditions and the march of progress. But inside their own household they still maintain in the unit rule and the two-thirds rule a domestic autocracy restrictive of real democratic freedom and progress.

Privately, party leaders express the hope that the situation which developed at New York, and which has held the convention in a deadlock thru days and nights of balloting, will, somehow, result in the abrogation of these archaic rules.

But individually none of them is ready to come out in the open with a proposal for the change. Because these rules offer efficient means by which marauding minorities can direct their maneuvers to waylay majority opponents, they have many fast friends. The effect of the two-thirds rule, particularly, is to give the solid south a veto on Democratic candidates and measures, makes it a very touchy subject with which to deal. This more than any other reason has kept the Democratic party a sectional party—the party of "Old Hickory."

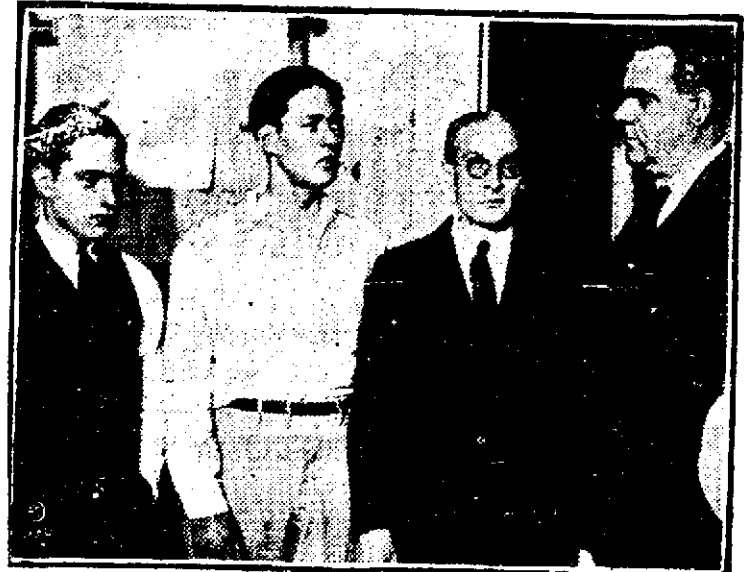

The Live Y'er club will hold a picnic and camp fire at 5 p. m. Tuesday. Miss Grace Reynolds, Y. W. C. A. industrial secretary, will announce. The location has not been announced. Miss Irene Freeman, president of the club, will give a report on an industrial conference held at Dewey Lake, Michigan, several weeks ago.

A RATHER ABRUPT LANDING!

There were plenty of thrills in the aerial races and carnival the 27th Division Air Service, New York National Guard, staged at Miller Field, Staten Island. Here, for instance, is Alva F. Starr, winner of the parachute jump, hitting the ground in a rather abrupt landing.

ALMOST A DAILY OCCURRENCE

Hardly a day passes that Nathan Leopold Jr. and Richard Loeb, confessed slayers of Robert Franks, Chicago schoolboy, are not called into the Cook-co jail laboratory for further examination by alienists and psychiatrists. Here Dr. James Whitney Hall, extreme right, has come with Walter Bachrach, one of the defense counsel, to question the youths.

STORM'S DEATH TOLL GROWS

Two More Are Added to List at Lorain

CLEVELAND — (By Associated Press) — Whether Mayor George F. Fritas of Sandusky will appeal for outside aid will be decided today at a conference between him and representatives of the national Red Cross. It was not unlikely that Mayor George Hoffman of Lorain will take similar action, inasmuch as Governor Donahy has reiterated that he will not issue such an appeal.

Appeals for aid will go out today to chambers of commerce of the United States for funds to rehabilitate Lorain. After touring that city and conferring with city officials and Red Cross directors yesterday, Richard F. Grant, president of the chamber of commerce of the United States approved the appeal. Letters asking for help have been sent to eastern and middle western chambers and others will be sent today to the Pacific coast.

The list of storm victims in Lorain was increased to seventy with the death last night of Karl Lemmerman, 39, secretary-treasurer of the Atlas Oil Co. and former president of the Adolphi college alumni association and S. J. Lemmerman was injured while driving thru Lorain enroute to Vermilion where he expected to spend the weekend. Donata was crushed by a brick wall which fell during the storm.

RELIEF PLANS COLUMBUS — (By Associated Press) — Edward Arras, Columbus, national president of the Kiwanis, and Charles Simmer, Cleveland, and John Collins, Cleveland, regional governors of rotary clubs in Ohio, will meet with Governor Donahy and the Lorain relief commission today at the governor's office to discuss plans for collection of relief funds.

Fred A. Miller, chairman of the commission, announced this morning the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs will have charge of popular subscriptions in Ohio cities. Other fraternal, church and other organizations will work in conjunction with these organizations. Governor Donahy will issue a personal appeal today to all foreign corporations doing business in Ohio asking them to contribute to the fund. Insurance companies particularly will be urged to assist in raising the fund.

OTHAM FIRST NIGHTER CANNOT HEAR A WORD

NEW YORK — (Special) — Eddie Jacobs, an inveterate first nighter in New York's theatrical mid, hasn't heard a sound since was five years old. An illness destroyed his sense hearing. Yet he follows conversations in ease. He is an expert lip reader. Two women, fighting for the same man, were tearing at each other in Times Square the other day, it is related. From across the street, Jacobs intoned every word of the loud conversation of the battling maidens. Jacobs heard with his eyes.

IVY "GOBS" HAVE HARD TIME DURING VACATION

NEW YORK — (Special) — United States Navy sailors on leave here always appear forlorn and lost. The big fleets put in to after a long and surely tireless cruise and the men beam as they walk the plank to shore. In a few hours they may be standing on corners, dejected in appearance, probably saying they were back to sea—in some other port. Thousands of them stampeded a York not so long ago. But they were swallowed up in the city within a few moments. But today's recreation presents a different picture. In New York, unless his pockets jingle the fascinating tinkle of

ROBERTS ENTERS GUILTY PLEA

Court Refers Sentence Pending Liquor Case Probe

S. D. Roberts, farmer of near Spencerville, Monday morning appeared before Probate Judge J. H. Hamilton and entered a plea of guilty to a charge of illegal possession of a still for the purpose of illicit manufacture. Sentence was deferred by the court pending further investigation of the case. Charges against Roberts culminated as the result of a raid staged Saturday on his farm during his absence by Sheriff Harvey Crosson and Deputies Al Smith and Sam Osburn, who announced the seizure of a still, a barrel of mash and three pints of "moonshine." Word was left for Roberts to appear and Monday morning he answered the summons.

LAFOLLETTE BACKERS PREDICT CLOSE RACE

CLEVELAND — (Special) — Until the members of the Conference for Progressive Political Action actually began to gather in considerable numbers here for their meeting opening July 4, none was so sanguine as to predict an out-and-out victory at the polls for Robert M. La Follette. That he might succeed in throwing the presidential choice into the House of Representatives was the most the Progressives hoped for.

But with the gathering in Cleveland and an exchange of information among the delegates, concerning political conditions in many parts of the country, a rapid strengthening of confidence began to show itself.

That La Follette will have a majority over both the old party candidates in November is perhaps too much to expect, his supporters concede. But that he will have a plurality will be the prophesy freely made on the floor of the Cleveland gathering. If so, despite the triangular division of strength in Congress, the Progressives venture the guess that such a score will have been thrown into the old line politicians there's a chance the ranking presidential candidate will win the contest.

Convention Notes

NEW YORK — (By Associated Press) — The economy plank in the Democratic party's platform may have to be carried out at once so far as the party convention is concerned.

Those in charge of the financial appropriation for the convention went over their accounts during the Sunday lunch and found that unless more cash was found sometime before the beginning of today's session, the services of the band which has been entertaining the delegates and galleries through the seventeen sessions, would have to be dispensed with.

Operation of the powerful but expensive Klieg lights also will be stopped in the interest of economy and to the advantage of photographers and spotlight seekers.

The Sunday lunch also was used by some of the delegates to ascertain the state of their "cash on hand" account and to wire home as to the standing of their bank balances.

An official committee which undertook to ascertain if there were delegates who need money in order to stay and, if so, how many, has found few unable to take care of themselves. Major John S. Cohen, national commitman from Georgia and publisher of the Atlanta Journal, has started a fund in Atlanta to take care of the Georgia delegation, and similar movements have been reported ready for inauguration in other states if the need arises.

The delegates from the southern states appear to be more exercised over the treatment accorded them by the galleries that over the increasing expenses. Governor Cameron Morrison of North Carolina, is particularly concerned over the matter.

The south will not soon forget New York people for insulting them in the Democratic convention," he was quoted by the New York World as saying. "Southern people have bought millions of dollars worth of goods from New York merchants annually for years. They never expected to have their women jeered at because they were from the south. Our delegation is on one of the back tier of seats and the language hurled at us from the galleries could not have come from any other than a tough element. The New York delegates had no part in this."

SUES FOR DIVORCE PARIS

25 TO AID BOY'S EDUCATION

New York Youth to be Incorporated by Admirers

NEW YORK — (Special) — Twenty-five admirers of a bright three-year-old boy in Greenwich Village are buying stock in his future.

The little fellow lives with his father. His parents are separated.

The youth is to be incorporated on his fourth birthday. He will become the legal institution of his 25 elders, who will watch his advance in years as they would a growing business.

A board of directors will guide his destinies. The boy will be given every possible opportunity to become a great and successful man.

Each week the members of the human company will deposit 25 cents to the youth's bank account. By the time he is ten years old, the account augmented by compound interest, will be sufficient to grant him educational opportunities available to few boys. Practically every member of the closed corporation is a college graduate—all of them are well educated and successful.

Already they are debating as to where he will be educated. Some want to rear him in Europe, that he may be influenced by the continental atmosphere.

It will be interesting, in a few years, to note whether this flesh and blood organization pays dividends.

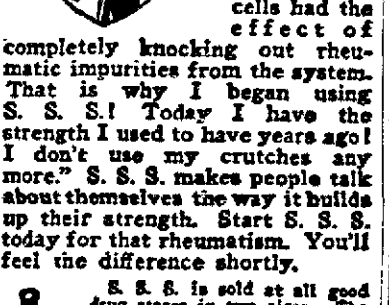

SON AT HOME GILBOA — Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Baughman, Sr., entertained over Sunday their son, G. W. Baughman, Jr., of Pittsburgh.

"My Rheumatism is gone"

"THERE are thousands of you men and women, just like I once was—slaves to rheumatism, muscle pains, joint pains and horrible stiffness. I had the wrong idea about rheumatism for years. I didn't realize that increasing blood-cells had the effect of completely knocking out rheumatic impurities from the system. That is why I began using S. S. S. I today I have the strength I used to have years ago! I don't use my crutches any more." S. S. S. makes people talk about themselves the way it builds up their strength. Start S. S. S. today for that rheumatism. You'll feel the difference shortly.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

SOCIALISTS TO ACT TODAY

Will Decide as to Endorsement of LaFollette

CLEVELAND — (By Associated Press) — The Socialist party of America went into the second day of its convention here today confronted with the task of debating and voting upon a report from a special committee of ten recommending that it endorse the independent presidential candidacy of Robert M. LaFollette.

The conference voted 13 to 2 to make this recommendation. The fact that it was composed of outstanding leaders of the party, selected by the convention yesterday from 23 delegates nominated from the floor and voted upon by the individual delegates, was considered significant of the probable discussion. It was indicated that the debate would probably last for several hours. Opponents of the plan were prepared to argue against the report from every possible angle and it was reported there would be no attempt to shut off debate.

Upon the vote, when it comes, will depend whether the party shall enlist with LaFollette and fail to nominate a national ticket for the first time since its organization, or continue its regular course and seek votes for candidates of its own choosing. Morris Hillquit, New York, and Victor Berger, Congressman from Milwaukee, will be leaders of the fight for the committee report. They sat in the convention last Friday and Saturday of the conference for progressive political action, and concurred there in the report that endorsed LaFollette for the presidency, postponed a vice presidential nomination and provided for the organization of a new national political party next January.

Time And Money

How would you like to earn $1 a minute? It would give you an income of about $150,000 a year. A great many Americans make that much and more. The system that permits them to pile up so much wealth is countenanced by the public because every one figures that, as long as the system exists, there is always a chance for him to get into the $150,000-a-year class.

We are all millionaires at heart.

The millionaire merely represents the common goal.

Here's an interesting experiment in psychology. Take almost any man with an income of $1 a minute. Let him by accident drop $1 thru a sidewalk grating.

What will he do? You know. He'll stop, no matter how rushed he is, and try to recover the lost $1.

He'll spend at least $10 worth of time trying to get back that tantalizing $1 that has slipped away from him.

Many millionaires attend directors' meetings just to get the $5 goldpiece that is paid for attendance.

We smile at the man who wastes $10 of time trying to recover a lost $1. And yet we all do the same thing in principle.

We continue to use worn-out devices long after they become more expensive than new devices. For instance, many a farmer—rather than buy a new faucet for his oil barrel—uses the leaking old faucet. He collects the drippings in a tin can—but by evaporation loses every few weeks more than the cost of a new faucet.

Supposed economy oftentimes is extravagance.

No matter how much or how little money we have, our greatest wealth is time. Nature gives us just so many minutes to spend between birth and death.

The precious minutes are flicking away fast. But how many squander their most valuable minutes? It's foolish to overwork. Man needs to spend minutes as well as dollars for recreation to keep him balanced and efficient mentally and physically. Few of us, tho, spend our spare time as shrewdly as we spend our spare money.

Money fortune depends on not being a spendthrift with time, quite as much as on saving money.

Our Taxes

Three years ago, 60 per cent of the taxes paid by Americans went to the national government, 40 per cent to cities, counties and states.

The tables are reversed now. Uncle Sam gets 40 per cent, local government 60.

This is the real taxation menace. Keep an eye on spending by Congress, but don't forget local tax-eaters.

Corner Busting

British rubber growers, who produce 72 per cent of the world's rubber, are forming a new selling combine to control world supply, according to the Wall Street Journal.

Americans are the largest consumers of rubber. Only two ways of protecting them from the high prices that inevitably result from organized near-monopoly. The first is artificial rubber, already accomplished, but price is prohibitive for auto tires. The second is to grow rubber on a big scale ourselves. Our best bet is the rapidly growing rubber plantations in the Philippine islands. Should be encouraged.

Changing Faces

Human face is gradually becoming longer, claims the British scientist, Sir Arthur Keith. Long, narrow heads with sharp jaws, that's the tendency.

It's a result of more intense thinking. When a person thinks deeply, mouth tends to purse, cheeks to be pulled in and chin sags downward. Taking life too seriously does the same—wearing a long face.

Canada

In a year we have sold Canada 601 million dollars worth of goods and bought from her 431 millions.

The balance in our favor isn't as important as the fact that trade between the two countries is increasing steadily. Twelve per cent a year is the gain. And Canada is one of the very few countries where we are sure of getting our money.

It's no accomplishment to sell to an evident dead-beat.

Long Ago

Forty cents a day was considered satisfactory pay for a long day's work when I was a young fellow, rummages Warner Bailey of Concord, N. H. He's an old-timer—painted the first sewing machine made by its inventor, Elias Howe. Having mastered the painter's trade, Bailey worked for 38 cents a day.

However—

He paid only 50 cents a month for board.

The more we make, the more we have to pay. Our gain comes in a steadily advancing standard of living. We buy and use 1000 times as many things as when Bailey was young.

PAINTING TIME

(BY HAL COCHRAN)

The brush brigade is busy and the paint is flying fast; the things around the house are looking bright. The parents in the household are the leaders of the cast that is putting on the show both day and night.

A grassy green is dwindling as a paint pot stands at ease while father dips the brush in perfect rhyme. He's touching up some wicker chairs, while on his hands and knees, preparing for the good old summer time.

And mother spreads some varnish till her bones are aching sore. She takes her time, for things must be just so. She brightens up the surface of the spacious hardwood floor. She soon will have the floor space all aglow.

Then little Jane and Wittle, who are only in their teens, have begged to help their parents, goodness knows. And so we find them splashing blobs of black upon the screens and also blobs of black upon their clothes.

Yes, painting time is with us and it's quite the proper style to don your oldest clothes and join the fun. For fun you'll really make it if you'll work away and smile and know you'll have things brighter when you're done.

didn't know. Albeit, he knew no when. So, I very much embarrassed the out. Sparring for an opening, all the way to the open, without getting a hint. Then, braced he sold ice in the summer time, and coal in the winter. So, he must be one of those millionaires. Yet his noble name still in mystery.

This idea of Will Rogers running for president was no crack-brained notion. What he would pull on Silent Cal would make first-page stuff from now on until November.

There goes Bill Hawkins, the golfer. Now and then we meet a girl, whose husband will have the cause to worry over who is boss.

To the office, betimes, whence came an utterly unsuccessful liver of life, as the bankers diagnose it. It was his first call in six months. Albeit instead of giving it to him. Called it a loan. Now can dun him every time we meet, and he may grow weary.

Lunched, lightly on lamb chops, stewed rice, a tomato-lettuce salad, and cherry-pie for the sweet. Then by gas wagon to the pasture, watching the noble golfers. Among them were The Red Crown hero, Fred and Nels. Youngsters talking about 27 holes. When I do that, want Ote Davis for caddy.

In a money. Walter Bradley putting in. In a barbery, Gene Lebel waiting for a wash. In an opening, all the way to the open, without getting a hint. Then, braced he sold ice in the summer time, and coal in the winter. So, he must be one of those millionaires. Yet his noble name still in mystery.

The younger sons of man have changed that burning the midnight oil gag, to burning midnight gas. And many older ones have driven their Hennes right on thru bankruptcy without shifting parking betimes.

In the evening, down the avenue. Pale faced mothers window shopping, time furrowed on disappointed faces. A stray dog who roared the traffic signal correctly. Crossing on the green. The pungent smell of a bakery. Tired postmen leaving for home. Young husbands, grinning and saying, yes he's a boy. A worn out gold-digger with a burned out old 'achelor. Wonder if we can drive both ways when the west side of the street is paved? That fellow parked all right, but it cost him a fender.

At the shoppe whence came E. A. McBeth, the former Lima realtor, or was it real estate dealer. The discourse on friends now on the other side. Peace be to their souls.

So rather serious minded, home, to a baker of sweet cider, and hamburger sandwich. Then in some content, late to bed.

IN THE VALLEY

They say the scene is glorious from the crest Of that high mountain. One who has been there Whispers of freedom and a world most fair Stretching below in splendor east and west: 'Tis there, they say, the eagle builds its nest. And yet today the daisies here are fair. And this green valley seems its loveliest. With summer casting jewels everywhere!

I have not strength to climb, nor heart to leave The scenes where all the friendly faces are. I hear their tales of glory and But have no wish to journey quite so far. Down in the valley let my days be spent. I can find beauty here and be content.

WHERE DID YOU GET THAT OR THOSE HIVES?

As we explained, as well as we could in our cramped corner, certain individuals, whose condition is now recognized as "sensitized," are predisposed to hives and others are more or less immune. In a susceptible individual even such a slight cause as the crawling of a caterpillar on the skin will produce at least a local outbreak of hives. The usual circumscribed edema of the true skin produced by a mosquito bite is the typical example of a hive. The bites of other parasites produce local hives, and the bites of wasps and bees produce local hives in all except a few who possess a high degree of immunity.

Take bee stings. Beekeepers observe that after a series of fortunately spaced stings they become more or less immune and suffer little or no reaction to stings that it takes a couple dozen stings or three or four to produce this immunity. If you plan to try the treatment—according to legend it wipes out any trifling ailment such as the rheumatism, if you survive the thirteenth and twenty-third stings. Just what the process is, thru which this kind of immunity is brought about is a worth while problem for some young biological chemist to study. By the way, here is a wonderful field for the ambitious boy or girl to enter. A field with a great future and plenty of opportunity for doing something worth while in the world—biological chemistry, physiological and pathological research.

Urticaria, nettle rash or hives in the most trifling of all the conditions which may occur from sensitization or anaphylaxis or allergy, as the reaction to the introduction of a foreign protein substance into the system is called. More serious conditions arising from such sensitization are hay fever, and asthma, to mention only familiar examples. It would take us far from the subject of hives to try to define this hypersensitizability or sensitization now. Here is a brief description of it: If a single hypodermic or intravenous injection of pure horse serum is given to man or another animal than the horse, a characteristic reaction occurs after eight or twelve days in the form of hives about the site of injection or spread over the body, or a general edema, or strange joint pains, or a peculiar type of fever. The protein of the serum is the "foreign" protein. It would produce no such reaction if taken into the system thru the usual process of digestion, as in rare or raw meat, for instance, at least ments. This is probably all as clear as mud, but in truth the whole vast problem of allergy, anaphylaxis or sensitization, and its bearing on the vital question of immunity, is still under a haze which the light of research and study has yet to penetrate.

Foods which are famous for causing hives in a susceptible individual are oysters, crabs, lobsters, clams, shrimp, pork, sausage, mushrooms, strawberries, tomatoes, cucumbers, nuts, eggs (in infants taking egg for the first time), dates, oatmeal, honey, vinegar, cheese, raisins, grapes or their skins or wine made from them.

Washing is made easy when you use La France - no rubbing - no bluing

Try this new and better way to wash. Millions of women have found that it does away with the drudgery of wash-day, and gives whiter, cleaner clothes than ever before.

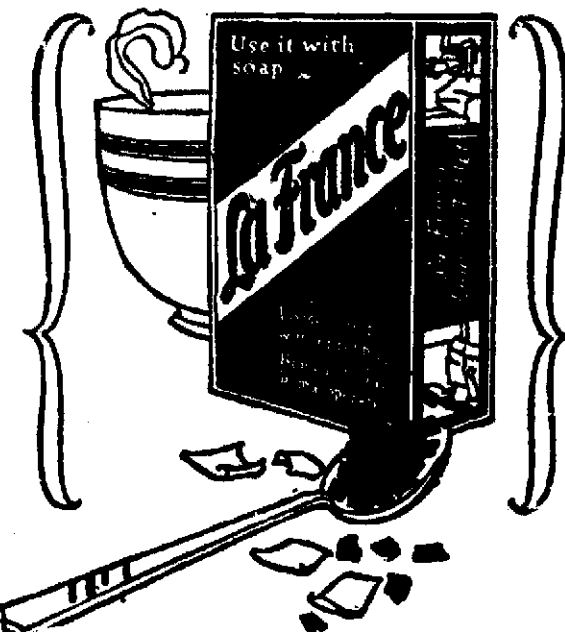

No rubbing—and no bluing when you use La France. It blues as it cleans. Just dissolve two tablespoonfuls with your soap and see how quickly it loosens the dirt. When you have soaked or boiled the clothes with La France, the washing is typically done.

La France is not only easy on you, it's easy on your clothes. Will not injure the most delicate fabric. Use La France with any soap you like—bar, powder or flakes—in tubs or washing machine. You don't have to change your method of washing to use La France. Only 20 cents a package. Order from your grocer to-day.

For ironing, use Satina. Added to the hot starch, it gives a glossy finish, keeps the iron from sticking and perfumes the clothes. La France Manufacturing Company, Philadelphia.

La France blues as it cleans. Loosens every sticky, greasy particle of soil so it can be easily rinsed away. Use it with soap of any brand or kind.

Only 25 cents each wash-day for this wonderful product that does away with all the drudgery of washing. For boiler, tubs or washing machine.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
John Atmsley, a man of education, a brilliant, a master of the art of deception, a man who has been known to the police as a "big game" thief, is the hero of this story. He is a man who has been known to the police as a "big game" thief, is the hero of this story. He is a man who has been known to the police as a "big game" thief, is the hero of this story.

OW GO ON WITH THE STORY
I admitted that it was. "But it's extremely large," I said. "It's as big as your eye," he declared. "And it's the most perfect pearl of its size in existence. Head Mart jabsbering about the Indian prince's went bust. I sold it," he whistled. "He'll be another chunk of one tomorrow, at the Customs. He'll break his heart. He'll spend a nickel where won't show, the old tightwad. I'll spend with him, sighing as I do so, thinking how well I could do the money represented by that pearl. Indeed, the thought was agonizing that I left the lounge before the concert was over, asking police in the smoke-room. The room was deserted, save the one-eyed man. Unwilling to leave any latent suspicion in my mind, I had not yet refrained from a look at him. But now I nodded assent to him. It was my last attempt to make his acquaintance. I had not yet given up the idea that here was opportunity. He followed my nod with an invitation to join me in a glass of champagne, he brusquely refused. His one good eye shot a suspicious glance at me. I noted that that eye was gray, and that glass eye matched the other. Refused, I made no further effort. I drank my wine, rose, took down the deck and went to my stateroom. I immediately dressed and went to bed, finally convinced that whatever the state of Higgins, the White Eagle and the one-eyed man, it beyond my power to solve and shut it.

Somehow, along toward dawn, as around by pounding at my door. I climbed from my bed, saw a dressing gown over my arm, and opened the door. A police officer stood there. "Sorry, sir," he said, "but you must come to the office."

"What's the idea?" I asked, up on my feet or something. "Nothing, sir, but one of the police officers has a very, very valuable trinket. Well, what's that to do with me?" I demanded.

"Nothing, sir, I hope," he replied, "but the gentleman in the next cabin tonight submitted to a search. It's Mr. Higgins, his wife's pearl; you and the other gentlemen have cabin in this corridor. To reach your rooms you have to pass by this stateroom. The steward on duty says that no other person entered the corridor since and Mrs. Higgins retired."

"And because I happen to have been in the same quarter of the ship with Higgins, I'm to be in bed that that swine, am I?" I asked.

"I officer became more apologetic. "Swine is right, sir, but I would make it easy for you, sir, you have a right to cause trouble on the deck. The captain prescribes compliments, sir, and that you will waive your right and help him to avoid trouble for the ship's sake."

Ask me, for instance, what I did when I arrived at my room in the Regina. I will tell you: I deftly took apart the two halves of the green glass eye which had been surrendered to me, and I kissed the Ranee's Pearl.

I had been right in my theory. Where the cartoon lies, the vulture files.
(Beginning in Our Next Issue: "BLITON, BUTTON.")

"IT'S MR. HIGGINS, SIR—HIS WIFE'S PEARL."

Outside the Customs shed I followed the porter with my baggage to a taxi. I told the chauffeur to drive my things to the Hotel Regina, took his number to assure myself of his honesty, and then waited. In a few minutes the one-eyed man arrived. His porter handed his bags to a taxi driver. The one-eyed man climbed into the cab.

And I climbed in after him. He would have expostulated, save that I pressed something against his ribs, the something being the muzzle of an automatic pistol. The driver did not see this by-play, and when I told him that I would accompany his passenger, made no objection. He closed the door upon us, climbed into his seat and started the cab.

"What do you want?" demanded the one-eyed man.
"You're right," I told him, I pressed the muzzle harder against his chest. "No use in trying out; it would be jail for you even if you live," I warned him.
There, in the center of crowded West Street, he removed his glasses and handed it to me. At the next corner I knocked on the window, and the chauffeur stopped. I alighted, waved an airy adieu to my one-eyed friend, and strolled blithely across town, a little later to pick up a taxi and drive to the Regina.

"Why, Ruth, you have been describing a regular vampire," I exclaimed. "How you must dislike Sally Atherton!"
"No," answered Ruth. "Sally Atherton is not the conventional vamp, for she would brush a man out of her way as quickly as she would a woman, if either stood in her path for the coveted goal of only of love but of any other ambition."
"But, Ruth," I expostulated, "that is the accepted idea of a vamp since Kipling wrote the poem 'A Fool There Was.' We all agree that the vamp feeds upon both men and women, and considers walking on the faces of her friends her most noble indoor sport and a pleasant pastime."
Ruth did not even smile at my flippancy. She said very seriously: "Oh, I know all that, Leslie, and I do not think such women are wholly to blame. They are just made so that they have no understanding of their duty toward any one or anything except themselves."

"You have told me much of Sally Atherton's life with her husband, and it seems to me that if marriage has crystallized her hardness and determination to have her own life at any cost, not only to others but to herself."
"She has seen so much selfishness in others that she has come to the conclusion that it is only the selfish person that gets what he wants. You and I, dear, know better than that."

"I oughtn't to take any great pride to myself for my own marriage, for I made a great mess of it. I tried to be a good wife to Harry—you know that, Leslie. Altho I came in for a great deal of very unkind gossip because of Walter Burke, yet you also know that when a man neglects his wife there is always some man in the offing that is perfectly willing to make it up to her. Harry never had a man friend except Jack that did not tell me that I was a fool to trust my husband, and intimate to me that he was much more trustworthy."

"Yes, I will make another exception, and it may seem strange to you. That exception was Walter. Walter was friendly to me, he was kind to me, but he never made love to me until after Harry ran away with that other woman."

Ruth liked my bobbed hair very much, little Marquise. In fact, every one does, and I think after Jack gets used to it he'll like it very much himself. Isn't it a queer thing that a man thinks his wife belongs to him to such an extent that he can tell her when and how to cut her hair, or rather when she shall not cut her hair. I'm going to take Ruth's advice, dear little Marquise, and wait a little, and see what will turn up in regard to the pearls. At least I shall wait until after Walter Burke returns and find out whether Ruth will keep the ship. Meanwhile I'm going to have a big society function to celebrate my third anniversary.

RICH, YET AT 93 HE SELLS PEANUTS

CHARLES HORTON, 93-YEAR-OLD PEANUT BUTCHER, SELLING HIS WARES TO JACK PICKFORD AND ANN MAY, TWO OF HIS MOVIE PATRONS.

BY JACK JUNGMEYER
SUNLAND, CALIF. — (Special)
—Charles Horton probably is the oldest and richest peanut vender in America.

He is 93. He owns property worth considerably more than half a million dollars.
His holdings include a 12-acre orange ranch and several dwellings in this prosperous little California valley, and the Horton building, in Chamber street, near the City Hall in New York.

A retired member of the New York fire department, he has been drawing a substantial pension for years. And from the government he gets $72 monthly, for he served with the 24th New York Independent Battery during the Civil War. But that is money he says he hasn't touched in 40 years.

HATES DRONES
Yet he sells peanuts, from a basket, as earnestly as the very life depended upon it. He says it does, indeed, altho his well preserved, energetic person hints still a span of years.

"The minute I quit doing this I'll die," affirms the aged vender, soliciting trade among an assemblage of motion picture folk who come here almost daily on "location."
"Dad," they call him, and they like his obvious delight in making sales as much as they enjoy his roasted gubers.
"On big days I sell as many as 200 packages," he boasts. "Besides that I sell honey and oranges from my own place."

"I have 200 stands of bees. They and I seem to enjoy work alike. We have no use for drones. ENJOYS MAKING MONEY
"Yes, I like money. I enjoy making it today as much as I ever did when a commission merchant and in other lines of business in New York."

MRS. WEMMER IS HOSTESS TO CLUB

Members of the Garden club were the guests on Monday of Mrs. Henry Wemmer at the Wemmer summer home at Lake Ridge. The women, who left Lima in the late morning for the lake, were guests of Mrs. Wemmer for luncheon at one o'clock, after which the afternoon program was enjoyed.

"Roses" was the subject of the program for the meeting. Mrs. William Beach gave a very interesting talk on that subject, after which an informal discussion was held. The women then visited the lovely rose garden at the lake, and were given an informal talk by their hostess. A group of vocal solos were sung by Mrs. E. E. Gooding.

Mrs. Wemmer was assisted during the day by her daughter, Mrs. Mark Kohler and the members of the committee, Mrs. Guy Bayly, Mrs. F. C. Becker and Mrs. Roy Grace.

Those enjoying the meeting were Mrs. Henry Deland, Mrs. William Wemmer, Mrs. Forster Robinson, Mrs. T. R. Schoonover, Mrs. M. M. Sealls, Mrs. O. B. Seifried, Mrs. E. B. CREPE FROCK

Just three ruffles of organdie given to one side but not to the other, make this crepe dress chic and distinctive and relieve the plainness which does get a little monotonous. The skirt is a wrap-around and lies in a large bow on the opposite side from the trimming, maintaining an equal distribution of favors. This is the type of dress that is seen everywhere these days and is made up in all types of material and all colors.

CHINCH BUG, SMUT AND FLY WARNINGS ISSUED

OTTAWA—J. W. Henderoth, county farm agent, has issued a warning to farmers to look out for the chinch bugs and Hessian fly. The worst weather of May seemed to be favorable to the Hessian fly, which is coming back," said Henderoth. Farmers should watch for this pest and the chinch bug, which gives indications of being more destructive this year than last.

"When the wheat is cut, the bugs will go to the corn. On account of the corn being late this year, much damage will be done if the bugs become plentiful," he said.

Henderoth advised the use of concrete barriers to control the bugs should they become numerous. He urged farmers to keep a close lookout for their appearance.

Henderoth also called attention to the presence of stinking smut upon the wheat and urged farmers to get only smut-free seed for use another year.

When Women Begin To Lose Youth and Charm

Dr. Frederic S. Knille, the New York author of medical text books, whose opinions are greatly valued, writes: "When the nerve tissue begins to lose its vitality, woman begins to lose her youth and attractiveness. Her lively, pleasant disposition fades away—she becomes irritable, moody and dependent. It would be a godsend if more men and women were aware of the efficacy of Bittro-Phosphate."

Thousands of thin, run-down people whose nervous system is nearly exhausted are turning to Bittro-Phosphate as dispensed by all good druggists because it re-vitalizes the nerves and brings back energy and mental keenness.

IN LIMA THEATRES

BY GERTRUDE GILLHAM

Tom Meighan is back again in a love-crook-melodrama, "The Confidence Man," which had its premiere Sunday at the Quilna theatre. It is one of the most entertaining stories Meighan has had in many months.

The story brings the popular star to the screen in the role of a clever confidence man type of crook. He goes to a small town to rope in a miserly old fellow on a fake oil stock deal, gets in right with the people of the village gets his victim's money and prepares to skip when the "man higher up" arrives from New York.

From this point the story steps right along. It keeps you guessing what's going to happen next, whether Tom will be exposed or if he'll reform and marry the pretty young girl he has fallen for.

Virginia Valli, star of "A Lady of Quality," is the leading woman. Cyril Ring, and Lawrence Wheat are prominent in the supporting cast which is typical of all Melody production and includes among others Charles Dow Clark, Jimmie Lapsley, Dorothy Walters and David Higgins.

Quilna News and Aesopa Fables are added attractions on this program which continues until Thursday.

LONE SUSPECT PROVES INNOCENCE TO POLICE

Police answered a call at midnight Sunday from 850 W. North-st., and investigated a report that a "suspicious white man" was loitering about the house, and had been there for 30 minutes.

They found Ralph Tipple, 2025 Nevada-st., Toledo, who said he had called on a lady friend at 839 W. North-st., and at the time was patiently waiting for his "buddie" who was out with another girl, to show up with his machine.

Comedy at Lyric

Norma Talmadge appears at the Lyric the first half of the week in "The Loves and Lies," a comedy drama founded on Wilkie Collins' story of the same name.

The play is very unusual in that Miss Talmadge portrays two sides of the well known eternal triangle, being her own rival for the affections of her husband. As Marie Callender she finds herself wed to a certain man whom she marries in a philanthropic mood, to help him tide over some financial worries.

But she is purely a marriage of convenience but at time passes Marie finds "the marriage of convenience" extremely dull. She finally decides to search for a method of winning her husband's love. The plan she eventually hits upon is unique to say the least.

Realizing that she cannot flirt with him at home under the circumstances, she goes elsewhere, becomes someone else, and sets out to win him.

"The Loves and Lies" is one of those plays that interests at the start, grows in suspense and ends with a climax that contains a surprise. It offers Norma Talmadge the best opportunity of her career for comedy work and shows that she is talented in this line as well as emotional roles.

Conway Tearle, as her husband, also has a role well suited to his talents and is an admirable foil to the fun of the star. The remainder of the cast is excellent.

What you get in a drop of gasoline:

Quick starting
Flying pick-up
Solid power, mileage

Engineers tell how to save 30% on gasoline

—and get greater power from motor, greater flexibility

Now you can get all the power your motor was built to deliver. And still save 30% of what you now pay for gasoline in a year! Careful engineering tests prove both statements.

Power units in gas

Now you have gasoline refined, or "built" to the ideal specifications pictured above. For all gasoline is composed of combustible units. The first 10% give quick starting. The second 10% give instant pick-up. The rest give solid pulling-power, speed, mileage. Above we give a chart showing how this might be analyzed.

PUROL gasoline is accurately refined to contain combustible units in this perfect relationship for power and economy. It gives the ready starting, the flying pick-up, the sturdy power you want.

30% savings proved

For 2 years our engineers have tested PUROL in 38 different cars. Records of these tests prove:

- 1 That PUROL gives 3.3% greater mileage.
- 2 That PUROL burns cleanly—does not drip down into crank-case. 14.2% of gasoline saved this way.

3 That saving of lubricating oil in this way amounts to $2.98 a year.

4 That saving in general repairs, because of undiluted lubricating oil, averages $10.33 a year.

The average car consumes 500 gallons of gas a year. So the first two savings—87 1/4 gallons at 20c—total $17.50. The four savings show a yearly total of $30.81. 30% of the annual gasoline cost for the average car!

Test in your own car

Make a test of PUROL Gasoline. Feel your motor respond with greater power, greater flexibility. And at the end of a year you'll find that it has saved a substantial sum for you.

PUROL quality never varies. Our rigid specifications are strictly maintained. You can count on it today or 5 years from today.
